

COMMUNISTS THROW FURIOUS COUNTER-PUNCHES AGAINST TANK-POWERED ALLIED COLUMNS THREATENING SEIZURE OF SHORTEST LAND ROUTE ACROSS KOREAN PENINSULA

United Nations Spearheads, Thrusting Northeast From Pyongyang, Capture Apex of Enemy's Former "Iron Triangle" Along Road Leading to Wonsan

By Howard Handleman
(Far Eastern Director, I. N. S.)
TOKYO, June 15 (INS)—Embattled Communists threw furious counter-punches today against tank-powered Allied columns threatening to seize the shortest land route across the Korean peninsula and perhaps the port of Wonsan.

United Nations spearheads were thrusting northeast from Pyongyang, captured apex of the enemy's former "iron triangle," along the 50-mile road leading to Wonsan on North Korea's east coast.

This mountain rail-highway route bisects the peninsula diagonally for a distance of a little more than 100 miles. It is shorter than the land arteries crossing North Korea's narrow "neck" above the Red Sea.

It slants up from the Imjin river in the Kaesong area, northwest of Seoul, to Wonsan which has been under a marathon Allied naval bombardment for nearly four months.

In Allied hands, Wonsan could be used to resupply and reinforce armies for possible farther advances northward. Wonsan is 90 air miles north of the 38th Parallel border between South and North Korea.

Against the grinding Allied push, supported by staggering numbers of tanks, the Chinese were able to mount only small counterattacks. But the fury of these assaults was enough to stall the UN offensive in the crucial east-central and eastern sectors.

In the west and west-central areas, however, little enemy resistance was encountered by tank-led United Nations columns which moved as far as six miles into Red territory Thursday.

East of the Allied-captured "iron triangle," Chinese troops up to battalion strength struck back from strong mountain positions in aggressive counterattacks.

Child, 2, Drowns In Washing Machine

ASHUYLEK HAVEN, June 15—A mother's rescue of a 4-year-old daughter caught on a picket fence late tonight when she ran back into her home to find a 2-year-old daughter drowned in a washing machine.

Victim of the tragedy was Kay Ann Breininger, daughter of 34-year-old Peter St. She was pronounced dead by Dr. Theodore B. Tibanski, neighborhood physician.

Police said the accident occurred at 8 p. m. Kay Ann was playing on the cellar floor when her mother, Corrine, noticed that the other child, Bonnie Beth, was climbing the fence. She ran outdoors and caught her into the house. Then she noticed that all the lights were out.

Running down the cellar stairs, Mrs. Breininger found Kay Ann jammed in the washer. Her body had jammed the paddle, causing the electric motor in the house to blow out. The child, police said, had climbed up a box and toppled into the water.

The father, a car repairman at the Chair Shops of the Reading Co., was in the movies across the street.

The couple has another child, Jennifer, Jr., 4 months.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

"Controls are absolutely necessary, for at least the next two years, no matter what happens in Korea," President Truman said in a radio talk to the people last night. He called on Congress to "pass a strong anti-inflation law" to prevent wrecking the nation's economy and making it possible for the Kremlin to "win the whole world to totalitarianism without firing a shot." A Senate committee rejected two moves to extend the present law, which expires June 30, and neither house will be able to complete a new measure this week. Price Stabilizer Disalle told angry cattlemen that rollbacks would remain in effect; price ceilings put on clothing will mean little saving for consumers.

The proposed 20 per cent withholding tax on dividends, interest and royalties was amended by a House committee to exempt United States savings bonds, postal savings, bank and similar interest payments. The Senate passed and sent to conference a money bill for the Labor Department and Federal Security Agency with sharp cuts in payrolls.

Secretary Acheson, not the military chiefs, recommended that the United States go to Korea's aid last June, former Defense Secretary Johnson said. He told the Senate's MacArthur inquiry that no mem-

John V. La Ezza, Trenton, Crawls from Overturned Car at Fallsington

MAY HAVE DOZED OFF

At six o'clock this morning, the Bucks County Rescue Squad was summoned to Route No. 1 north of Oxford Valley, where an accident had occurred.

According to Chief of Police Franklin Kirby, Fallsington, the operator of a sedan travelling north on Route 1, is believed to have fallen asleep at the wheel, causing the machine to leave the road, knock over three mail boxes and strike a utility pole, knocking it down.

The vehicle landed on its top with all four wheels in the air. The driver, John V. La Ezza, 529 New Willow street, Trenton, N. J., escaped with minor injuries. He was unconscious a short time and received an incised wound of ear, minor cuts from flying glass. The machine is reported to be a total loss.

Complete Institutes In "Atomic Warfare Aspects"

As part of its program of training in civil defense, the State Council of Civil Defense has completed a series of institutes for a limited number of selected professional nurses in the "Nursing Aspects of Atomic Warfare."

The purpose of these courses was to provide a nucleus of trained teachers in the field of atomic medicine, as it concerns professional nurses.

The nurse-teachers, who participated in these institutes, have been conducting courses in their own areas. They included the following: Mary Bailey, director of nursing, Quakertown Hospital, Quakertown; Frances Wildonger, instructor of nursing arts, Grandview Hospital, Sellersville; Pauline Young, R. N., Doylestown Emergency Hospital, Doylestown.

The Bucks County Council of Civil Defense believes these nurses are competent to train other civil defense personnel in Bucks County, according to an announcement made today by Col. A. M. Heritage (U. S. A., ret.), director of Bucks County Council of Civil Defense.

Evidence of strong and complete support of the proposed Lower Bucks County Hospital by the physicians of the area was voiced today by Thomas S. Fannin, M. D., chairman of the doctors' subscription committee in the hospital's $150,000 building fund program.

"We expect to be able to announce the total amount of subscription made by the doctors in lower Bucks County within a few weeks," Dr. Fannin stated. "The response to date has been excellent," he added, "and our committee members have dedicated themselves to completing their task before the end of the month."

Serving with Dr. Fannin on the committee are the following: H. Richard Giordano, M. D., Frank Lehman, M. D., Francis J. Preis, M. D., Vincent E. Romano, M. D., P. M. Vassalluzzo, M. D. and H. Doyle Webb, M. D.

"The doctors are particularly aware of the need for the new Lower Bucks County Hospital," Dr. Fannin commented. "In our opinion, it is the community's greatest need."

TELLS OF SWITCH ON FORMOSA

FORMER SECRETARY OF DEFENSE Louis Johnson, testifying before the Senate Armed Services-Foreign Relations Committee in Washington, reveals that the State Department overruled him on the strategic importance of Formosa. Later, it reversed itself after the Reds struck in Korea, he said. Johnson argued the issue at a secret Blair House meeting on the eve of the Korean conflict. The next day, with war under way, the State Department agreed with his viewpoint.

"HEAVY, HEAVY HANGS OVER"

Possibly not since the days of the great plagues has there been a more oppressive sense of anxiety throughout the world.

What gaiety we have is forced and hysterical—"the condemned man ate a hearty dinner," "Eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow ye die."

The undercurrent is one of uneasiness. The familiar landmarks are gone. The anchors are not holding. Mankind has forgotten its faith.

Most particularly, the American people have lost their way.

This great, heaven-chosen race, who braved hardship and savages to found this land, who toiled to build it and bled to save it, who bore its burdens to the heights of world leadership, now have failed in that leadership. They cannot lead others because they do not know where they are going. Courage and hope have been replaced by fear and discouragement.

The art of self-government is dead—or it perhaps not dead entirely so out of fashion and use that it might as well be dead. Words and excuses have taken the place of results. High idealism has been supplanted by "what we can get away with."

We are living extravagantly, almost riotously, on sheer inflation. The dollar has wasted away to perhaps a third of what it used to be, and the rate of decline is increasing. We have piled up a mountain of debt for our posterity which no one even pretends to think can ever be repaid—yet we are adding to the mortgage day by day, minute by minute, second by second.

Not one person in a thousand is really satisfied with the government. At the most, when you talk to them, you find that they support it on a "choice of evils" basis. But they don't seem to know how to go about curing the evils in their government, aren't even specially interested.

The rulers of this nation clutch the power they have seized, and grip it beyond present hope of rescue, through the use of the emotions of fear and demoralization. We are hounded by fears on every side—fear of the Russians, fear of war, fear of financial collapse, fear of depression, fear of anarchy, fear of the atomic bomb—fear, in the last analysis, of having to stand on our own feet and take care of our own needs.

This fear is not a natural growth—it has been fostered and encouraged and stimulated, fanned into fever heat by predatory interests that have moved into the seats of the mighty at Washington.

Once upon a time, the American people would have tolerated.

DOYLESTOWN, June 15—The Bucks County Planning Board has been unsuccessful in its search for a competent director up to this time.

Robert R. Mitchell, who will be the professor of the new School of Institute Urban Studies, will speak to the County Planning Commission at the next meeting, Tuesday, July 3rd.

LOCAL OPTION IN FALLS RULED OUT BY JUDGE

Question Not To Be Put On The Ballot for Primary Election

PETITION IS SET ASIDE

Some Signers Testified At Hearings That They Were Misinformed

DOYLESTOWN, June 15—In one of the most important decisions made in years, President Judge Hiram H. Keller has handed down an opinion in the Falls Township local option case.

Falls township voters will not have to decide whether they want their township to go "wet" or "dry" in the Primary Election on July 24th, in the opinion of Judge Keller.

Judge Keller, in his opinion with reference to petitions to the County Commissioners for referenda on the question of granting liquor and beer licenses in Falls township, ruled that the petitions are set aside and the County Commissioners directed not to permit the questions upon the ballot for submission to the voters.

Judge Keller, in his opinion, said: "Although some of our courts have stated in effect, that the Election Code should be liberally construed in the case of technical errors or defects, so as to maintain the ultimate object of all election laws, that is, a free election in which any qualified person may submit his or her candidacy to the people, or to permit citizens freely to express their convictions on referenda to be submitted to them, it has been the policy of this Court to require that the provisions of the Election Code be strictly complied with."

Two petitions were filed May 29 by John P. Hansen, both of them being to set aside 13 petitions requesting a referendum on the

Postmaster Urges Listings In New Bristol Directory

Acting Postmaster Lawrence Mulligan today urged the business houses and the public generally to cooperate with the publishers of the Bristol City Directory, who have now a staff of enumerators making a house-to-house canvass of homes, stores and offices and industries, preliminary to the publication of a new directory. As the city directory is used many times daily by post office employees to facilitate the delivery of mail not properly addressed, the postmaster emphasized the importance of being correctly listed in the book. "All firms and persons desiring to receive their mail promptly should insist upon being listed fully and accurately," he declared.

"Insufficient addresses, incorrect or misspelled names and the omission of street and number on letters and packages cost the American public a staggering total in money and time, which is for the most part avoidable," the postmaster said. "Much of the confusion caused by carelessness of letter-senders can be eliminated by full and correct city directory listings at the point of delivery. Clerks are continually checking names and addresses in the city directory, but even though these workers develop an almost intuitive sense, a great deal of mail never reaches its destination."

Over 29,000,000 letters went to the Dead Letter Office in a recent year, it was announced by the Post Office Department at Washington. Cash, checks, money-orders and stamps in excess of $5,000,000 were found in them. Accurate city directory listings for yourself and family will help save your mail from the Dead Letter Office. Correct names and addresses serve both the sender and receiver of mail.

BILLIONS FOR DEFENSE

To finance the preparedness program for the fiscal year starting July 1 the armed forces had requested appropriations totaling $104,000,000,000. Fiscal experts reduced this request to $60,000,000,000. Robert Lovett, Deputy Secretary of Defense, says nothing less than the $104,000,000,000 requested will provide security based on military strength.

One of the factors which enters into military appropriations is the inability of anyone in Congress or the executive department to guess how much longer the war in Korea will continue, or how much money will be needed to finance the fighting there.

Despite all the phony peace shenanigans, the Korea war will be given preference in military expenditures. This is expected to deplete the $60,000,000,000 budgeted for the next 12 months.

It is planned to reorganize the Army into 18 divisions, plus other units. There is to be a Navy composed of 1,161 ships, with necessary supporting aircraft and other units. There will be two and one-half Marine divisions, and an Air Force consisting of 95 units. What this will cost it is difficult to estimate, but it is doubtful whether the Defense Department could spend more than $60,000,000,000 in the next 12 months if the money were made available.

CONFUSING THE DRAFT

Somewhere in transit the Pentagon's idea of deferring 75,000 students from the draft to pursue studies in medicine, engineering and other special fields was transformed into the mass examination of college students to see if a passing mark on a multiple choice test could be obtained. The inference was that those who passed would be deferred.

That's not so, now asserts Senator Russell, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee. Results of the current examinations will have no binding effect on an eligible's deferment from conscription. In fact, the bill extending the draft contains a provision forbidding a local draft board to defer a man for the sole reason of his standing in an academic examination or test.

The draft boards are now to be put in a most difficult and embarrassing position. Draft eligibles who have passed the test will expect deferment. So will their families. The draft boards, under pressure to fill quotas, cannot defer on the ground of an academic examination or test, unless there are other reasons for deferment.

All this has happened because the loquacious General Hershey, director of Selective Service, had what he thought was a bright idea. The result is further to confuse prospective draftees, who were confused enough before. The Draft Renewal Act does nothing to clear up this confusion.

prising the lower portion of Bucks county for immediate study.

Professor Mitchell, who was formerly connected with Columbia University, New York, is setting up this new department at the University of Pennsylvania.

Although about 29 candidates have submitted briefs for the position of director, the Planning Commission has not employed any as yet.

With the removal of the County Superintendent's forces from the Administration Annex, there are two rooms, small offices, with the planning commission's director and assistant technicians.

"We want to be sure we have the right man and are making the right choice," said Commissioner Moyer, who discussed briefly the qualifications of several of the candidates.

"I can't understand that there is no Bucks county boy in college studying planning, zoning and other subjects, relative to what we have to do, so that we could give a 'local college boy' a chance," said Commissioner Moyer.

"Montgomery county was certainly fortunate in being able to give one of their own young men an opportunity."

PROFIT

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—(INS)—Reduced unit operating costs and increased revenues during the first quarter of the year permitted Trans World Airlines to report a net profit of $159,068. This was the first profit for that period since 1945. Last year, there was a loss of $1,846,704.

A Code of Ethics for Those Who Hold Public Office

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

SEEING the nation aroused by the disclosure of ways in which some of our government officials have used the influence of their position to help fatten the purses of their personal friends, Senator Fulbright and others have suggested that there should be drawn up a code of ethics for public officials.

This should be a subject for interesting and profitable discussion around the dinner table or fireside by teen-age children and their parents. Also for discussion in classrooms, especially in social science courses, in junior and senior high schools and in colleges.

Matters Nearer Home

The discussion might begin with matters nearer home and closer to the youth's experiences. Would it be morally right for members of a student club or any other group in the school to elect as many student officers of the school as possible, regardless of the qualifications of all students available?

Would it be right for the public official of a city, responsible for acquiring new areas for public parks, or for locating a new school building or other public buildings, to tip off his friends who might choose to buy up some lands whose value would later be enhanced by nearness to the future new park or school?

Would it be right for such a public official to accept gifts or elaborate entertainment by persons who might have land to sell for a park or school site, even if no promises beforehand were exacted of this official?

Most school boards are responsible for many purchases of school equipment. Suppose a company, which has school busses, school furniture, school books or the like for sale, should take one or more of the board members on a pleasure trip or send him or his family a gift. Should the board member accept such?

Suppose you were responsible for placing a contract for your state government for a new highway and had a special friend among the bidders. Would it be right for you to give this friend the slightest advantage in winning the contract?

Would it be right for you, if you were an official of the federal government responsible for letting contracts for tanks, airplanes, ships, guns, clothing or any other materials for armament or any other government use, to give the slightest advantage to any personal or political friend or group?

Government Officials

The discussion easily could be made very meaningful with facts to be read at almost any time in the newspapers about government officials who have used all sorts of personal influences to help a friend or group of friends gain large sums of money.

It could be great fun in a family or classroom to draw up a code of ethics, which would be considered desirable. No doubt any local newspaper would like to print such a code as news. How wonderful it might be if students of many high schools and colleges were to pool their ideas and devise a code representing their combined judgments! Certainly any such an enterprise should be highly educational—a fine exercise in democracy.

June Brides Should Correct Their Social Security Cards

When any "Miss" becomes a "Mrs." she should have her name on her social security card corrected immediately. Ruben R. Blane, manager of the Social Security Administration Field Office in the Post Office Building, Trenton, N. J., warned today. A new card bearing the same number but the new name will be issued promptly upon application.

Until the "Miss" has received a new social security card showing her married name, Blane stated, her employer should continue to report her wage credits in her maiden name. Not until he has seen the new card can the employer be sure that social security records have been amended to show the new name. If this plan is followed, the employer and employee will have accomplished three things:

- 1—Made certain the "Mrs." will continue to receive full social security credit for all wages earned.
- 2—Saved the Government the expense of correcting errors made in reporting.
- 3—Saved the employer the time and inconvenience of writing and receiving letters necessary to correct the errors in reporting.

Local Option in Falls Ruled Out by Judge

granting of liquor and beer licenses in Falls township.

At the first hearing on June 4, with President Judge Keller and Judge Fred W. Davis presiding, many of the signers testified they were misled, duped and defrauded into signing, because they were not told it was a "local option issue," but that the petitions were to prevent having any more than four liquor or beer licenses in Falls township. They did not understand, they testified.

At the two hearings, it was testified that the highest number of voters cast for any office in Falls township was 637. The Act of Assembly requires 25 per cent of that number or 159, for a local option petition.

The total number of signers on the liquor petition was 334, of which 23 signatures were withdrawn prior to filing, leaving 311. The "beer" petition had 339 of which 22 were withdrawn prior to filing, leaving 317.

Between 35 and 40 witnesses, who testified at the hearings, pleaded with the Court to have their names withdrawn at that time.

Defective petitions contained in the aggregate 197 signatures. Affidavits were defective because the affiants were persons other than those who circulated them.

At least four of the signers were not registered or qualified electors in Falls township.

"Some of the circulators admitted at the hearings that they themselves did not fully understand what the referenda implied, particularly with reference to the existing licenses," ruled the Court.

President Judge Keller scored the improper and false inducements held out by the circulators and originators of the petitions. Technical errors were not alone to blame for the Court's decision.

The "E. Paul Patton Silver Cup" was awarded to the Pen Ryn blue team. This is awarded to the school color team with the highest total point score. This year's scores were: blue team, 188; red team, 151. The annual P.T.A. silver cup, awarded for largest representation on field day, was presented to the first grade class.

The P. T. A. presented to Headmaster, Raymond Saunders, a 16" television set to be used by the student body.

"WASHINGTON REPORT"

By FULTON LEWIS, JR.
(Copyright, 1951
King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, June 15 — The hatchet job on Gen. Douglas MacArthur's administration of the Japanese homelands is gaining momentum. And a number of the same characters who whittled away at Chiang Kai-Shek and China's freedom can be seen crawling out of this woodwork.

I doubt if anybody fighting in the Pacific during World War II thought they were killing Japs so the U. S. A. could turn over that country to socialists or communists. Yet, Gen. MacArthur's critics charge him with failing to promote government control of Japanese industry and the Japanese people.

"Failure in Japan", a recent book by Robert B. Textor, a civilian who spent two years in Tokyo working on the government payroll as a civil information and education officer, harps on the idea that nationalization of Japanese industry is the only way to handle that country's economy. He also balks at American investment in Japan, but has nothing to say about British socialist investments in China.

Textor peddles state department gospel in his writings, which reduces his views to relative unimportance, except for one thing. He acquired a friend during his formative days when he was learning how to think about the Far East. His friend is none other than Owen Lattimore, the Baltimore bugle.

Just because Secretary of State Dean Acheson and other officials of that department have no memory now of ever having seen or heard of Lattimore when the Baltimore bugle was running in and out of the department, doesn't mean that Lattimore is a wraith. He is as unghostly as any of the other state department advisors who hate Chiang Kai-Shek for trying to save China from the communists.

Gen. MacArthur and his able aide, Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney, put together a new constitution for the Japanese when they had finished licking that country in the war. Constitutional lawyers say it is a model of democratic processes and most Japanese leaders agree. In addition, deliberations are underway to close a deal on a Japanese peace treaty which will give that country a chance to start over again as a friend of this country.

Naturally we can't have the Japs budding up to the Russians if we want to hang onto anything we have left in the Pacific. Japan is a rugged industrial nation when it is producing at a full clip, which is the way we want it now that the Russians and Chinese reds have started a war in Korea.

The Baltimore bugle, however, dashed off another literary gem for Textor's book in the form of a foreword. To enjoy its full flavor you have to watch the commas and periods. The bugle always has a kicker in his well placed paragraphs and it's no fun reading him unless you know what to watch for.

On this go-around, Lattimore gets a mite testy because he thinks the U. S. is trying to "impose" on Japan a policy of hostility to red China and Russia. He thinks we should, of course, support "full freedom and independence for Japan," but should refrain from pointing out to the Japanese that they'll only get their fingers burnt if they play around with Russia.

The fact that the Japanese only have to look across a few miles of water to get an idea of what the communists are doing in Korea, leaves the Baltimore bugle untroubled. He seems to think that if left alone the Japanese will naturally butter up to red China and Russia.

I can't be positive about whether Textor and Lattimore are expressing official administration policy for Japan. Both of them work for the government. However, and what with the way Mr. Truman is firing generals and navy lieutenants who disagree with him, the best guess is that the two authors have gotten a green light for their writings.

Everybody from Acheson on down, including secretary of defense George C. Marshall, will deny that the Baltimore bugle is on any official administration payroll. Take a look at this, however.

The operations research office of the department of the army, which handles super-secret research and weapons evaluation work, decided last year to turn over its functions to Johns Hopkins University. It signed a contract with the Johns Hopkins School of International Studies of all things, and now funnels its secret data to that institution. Guess who runs the School of International Studies? You could not guess wrong, it's the Baltimore bugle, Mr. Lattimore.

SUNDAY DINNER

Suggestions—

If one of your household problems evolves around the planning and making of lunches for your off-to-school youngsters and off-to-work elders, your task is made a bit easier if you buy smoked ham occasionally.

Baked ham makes a wonderful Sunday dinner and there's material galore for sandwiches with what remains of a good-sized ham. To bake your ham, A & P's Service for Homemakers suggests that you first wipe it thoroughly with a clean cloth before wrapping it loosely in clean wrapping paper. Place the fat side up on rack of a shallow pan. Do not cover pan or add water. Allow 15 minutes of baking per pound for hams weighing 12 or more pounds. For hams under 12 pounds allow 18 minutes per pound.

Bake in a slow oven (300°F.) until within 45 minutes of total baking time. Remove paper and rind from ham, making a series of shallow cuts across fat to form diamonds or squares. Spread with desired glaze, such as one cup of honey. Bake uncovered in 325°F. oven for remaining 45 minutes.

Mashed sweet potatoes and buttered green beans are the recommended vegetables. For your salad, try canned peach slices on lettuce with cream cheese.

Here's a sweet ending to a good Sunday dinner—peach surprise sherbet. Boil two cups sugar in quart of water for five minutes. Add a teaspoon of gelatin which has been softened in cold water. When the mixture is cold, add two cups of mashed freestone peaches and the juice of one lemon and two oranges. Freeze.

ated these parasites briefly, and then shrugged them off into oblivion with hardly a second thought to the matter.

Today we have lost the know-how and the courage to purge our government of the grafters, the chisellers, the greedy power-gluttons. We write and read books about them, we watch the unfolding of the scheme in the Kefauver hearings on television, we glimpse its pattern through millions of words of testimony on foreign policy in the "great debate."

But we do nothing about it—we don't, as a nation, even get mad about it—don't do more than worry about it, in an aimless, inarticulate fashion.

The calendar brings us steadily towards the hour of decision. A year from now, the political conventions will be upon us. A year from this fall, the presidential elections, with both houses of Congress at stake as well, will be under way.

The last time that sort of election came up, the tremendous issues of the period were so poorly understood that half of the American people stayed home on election day—only fifty percent of the qualified electorate bothered to come to the polls at all.

Since there are literally millions of votes in this country which have been bought and paid for by the political combine which is in charge of the national government, bought and paid for through Federal jobs and special favors financed out of the public's moneys—since the Truman forces have a completely illegal and un-American "nest-egg" of several million votes, the outcome of the election was never in doubt, when half the electorate stayed home.

Yet the almost incredible fact is that, despite the gigantic payroll and the bossed and controlled votes cast automatically for the Democrats, President Truman got less than half of the votes actually cast. The anti-Truman votes, divided into units each of which was less than the Truman vote, together totalled more than the ballots cast in favor of him.

For three years we have been governed by a party returned to command at Washington with the support of only one voter in four, and repudiated by more voters than supported it at the election.

If we have been badly governed in that time, if we have lost important ground in our battle for solvency, national unity and world peace, the fault is to be laid squarely on the doorstep of the half-of-a-nation who were too busy doing something else to come out and vote last presidential-election day.

Will history repeat next year?

Communists Throw Furious Punches Against UN Force

aggressive defense of the enemy's new nerve center, Kumson.

Some UN vanguard units were forced into temporary pullbacks but no Communist penetrations of Allied lines were reported up to early Friday.

Kumson is 23 miles north of Parallel 38 and 18 miles due east of Pyongyang, apex of the triangular plateau just overrun by UN forces.

Northeast of Pyongyang, Allied patrols met some resistance as they probed up the rail-highway route shunting across the peninsula to the port of Wonsan.

Low-sweeping UN airmen kept hitting enemy retreat and supply arteries as well as other key targets.

The Communists retaliated with their southernmost aerial venture in several months. They bombed two Allied-held areas below Seoul during the hours of darkness before dawn.

In what may have been a test of UN anti-aircraft defenses, an unidentified propeller-driven plane dropped four bombs in the area south-southeast of Yongdongpo at 3 a. m. Flying south, the plane made another pass and strafed the area with machine gun fire.

Yongdongpo is an industrial suburb of Seoul and is five miles south-west of the South Korean capital.

Two 400-pound bombs and two 50-pound fragmentation missiles were dropped by an unidentified aircraft near the Suwon airfield, 20 miles south of Seoul.

It was not known whether the two attacks were made by the same plane or by two different aircraft.

There was no report of damage or casualties in the two air raids. Allied airmen worked over the area between Wonsan and the present UN ground positions in the eastern half of North Korea. Land-based U. S. Marine pilots blew up 150 feet of track leading to a rail bridge at Singosan, 32 miles up the railroad from captured Pyongyang toward Wonsan.

UN planes mounted 350 sorties Thursday, despite low clouds and poor visibility. They pounded roads, bridges, rail lines, supply concentrations and airfields.

In the ground fighting, Chinese forces east of Kumhwa probed Eighth Army positions at 4:50 a. m., but were driven off a half hour later. Allied-occupied Kumhwa was the southeast anchor of the enemy's former buildup triangle.

East-southeast of Kumhwa, Allied units found the going rough against strong pockets of Red resistance. The Communists were powerfully entrenched on two hills in the area.

In a protracted seesaw battle the Allies drove the Chinese off one hill late Thursday, only to be forced off the height by a Red counterattack.

presented Miss Wetzler with a gift in the form of a check.

The Croydon teachers and special teachers who have worked closely with Miss Wetzler surprised her with a cameo brooch and a fountain pen. As an added surprise the Croydon Parent-Teacher Association gave the honored guest a brown kid hand bag. Her own pupils of second grade surprised Miss Wetzler with a corsage of red roses. She was remembered by many of her former pupils with gifts and messages. Several parents also remembered her with individual gifts.

Miss Wetzler, who was born in Lancaster county, graduated from Millersville State Teachers College. She taught at schools in Lancaster and Chester counties, and has been a member of Bristol township school faculty for 25 years. In all, she has taught 11½ years. Miss Wetzler plans to reside in Lancaster.

The table was decorated in pastel colors. The center-piece was a spray of flowers made and contributed by Janice Aufschlag, Barbara Edwards, Georgia Lukens, and Denny Hearing. A delicious luncheon was served the guests and teachers under the supervision of Mrs. Shifferstine and Mrs. Ernest Hamilton. Their assistants were Joan Burke, Janice Aufschlag, Barbara Edwards, Norma Tulbach, Judy McCullen, Caroline Bradford, Georgia Lukens, who were former pupils of Miss Wetzler.

Those who attended the luncheon:

Mr. and Mrs. John Ailman, Mrs. Dorothy A. McColom, Mrs. A. Erna McKevitt, Mrs. Ethel Owens, Henry Morgan, Mrs. John Devine, Mrs. Kenneth Rea, Miss Leona Beck, Miss Anna Kirby, Miss Martha Stief, Mrs. Patricia Schwartz, Miss Lora Marcolina, Miss Joan Saurman, Mrs. Lloyd Johnson, Miss Ann Langton, Stanley Kendus.

ceremonies, also congratulated Ardrey on his achievements.

Following the presentation the recipient responded with a sincere thanks and praised the high standards of fellowship and thoughtfulness to others maintained by the club.

A special salute was rendered Ardrey in printed form on the attractive program prepared for the occasion. It read:

"Eighty-two years ago there was born in Manchester, England, a boy who was in later years to exercise a real influence in our own town of Bristol, and more especially the Rotary Club. That boy was our beloved and honored George Ardrey.

"While still a youth of 15, in 1884, he left his native land to come to America with his brother and father.

"In that same year, 1884, a business was established in Bristol by his father and two elder sons, which was to survive over the years. It was known as the S. B. Ardrey & Sons, Machinists.

"The leadership and ownership of the business was relinquished by George only last year when he sold the business and retired, and it is a happy observation to realize the business still goes on at the Pond Street site today.

"George was educated in England in private schools. He was destined to enter Owens College in Manchester, but his departure for America cut short that planning. His ability and knowledge was gathered as a youth from his father who was a machinist, engineer, and inventor. George's education in America was gained through experience and travel.

"In 1924, immediately after the Bristol Rotary Club was organized, George became a member. He served with distinction as club president in 1942-43. During his Rotary career he attended two international conventions, in Cleveland in 1925, and Ostend, Belgium, in 1927.

"George, who has resided on Radcliffe Street for 51 years, has one son, Bradley, and two grandchildren.

"A member of the Board of Trustees of the Bristol Presbyterian Church for 44 years, he was recently given a testimonial dinner in recognition of his services when he retired from that post. He is also a member of the Masonic Engineers Club of Philadelphia, and was one of the organizers of The Bristol Trust Company.

"To him, also, went the honor of being the first president of the Boy Scout Council of Bristol, and he was a member of the first Bristol Chamber of Commerce.

"His hobbies are music and archeology, and he has made a study over many, many years of the history and culture of Egypt.

"Thoughtfulness of others, and helpfulness to others have been driving forces in George's full and happy Rotary career.

"To you, George, our warmest and sincere salute!"

Guest were present for the dinner from Merchantville, N. J., Hamburg, Langhorne, Philadelphia and Emaus.

Set Aside Time for Grooming

A warm bath should be part of every girl's daily grooming program. Add fragrant bath bubbles to the water to give you a delightful, relaxed feeling.

By HELEN FOLLETT

UNLESS a woman has her good looks tasks planned, a certain time for them, she is likely to skip small duties that are essential to good appearance. The better she looks, the better she will feel. Life will be more zestful and radiant than if she makes no endeavors toward self-improvement and battling birthdays.

A warm bath at night will take the weariness out of her bones. It will calm a nervous system that may be acting up because of too many activities, will have a wonderful cosmetic effect upon her complexion. And if bath bubbles are added to the tub, it's even more enjoyable. The skin is an avenue of elimination, throwing off wastes; a vigorous scouring of the body surface with a soaped brush will make it function normally.

Natural Lubricant

Give your hands the cosmetic leavings. While lotions are soothing, hands need some kind of oil to compensate for the removal of the natural lubricant by constant hand washing.

It's a nice idea to use a white lipstick, especially if the lips get little ragtags of cuticle on them, as sometimes happens. A touch of mineral oil on the eyebrows and eyelashes won't do a bit of harm, it is likely to do a lot of good, in fact.

Surface Dust

A three-minute brushing of the hair will do a housecleaning job, removing surface dust and dead shafts. The brushes cannot snake out live ones, and the sooner the all of champion blood lines. All told, the herd brought more than $80,000.

Intermittent rain failed to wet the fervor of the more than 700 cattle breeders from all along the Eastern seaboard who attended the auction. They crowded into a large tent set up on Fretz's farm to compete in the vigorous bidding.

Fretz, who has been breeding champion Guernseys for more than 46 years, was unable to be present at the auction. He is recovering from a serious illness.

The proceedings were piped into Fretz's home through arrangements made by his son, Walter, with radio station WBUX, of Quakertown, and the telephone company. The station presented an hour-long broadcast from the tent.

Runner-up to Jeanette, price-wise, was a champion bull named Flash. He went on the block for $1700.

An average price of $510 was paid for the other 158 cows and bulls.

Pipersville, June 15—At one of Bucks County's biggest auction sales Wednesday, Jeanette, a purebred Guernsey brought a top price of $3,500.

Jeanette was one of 160 head of purebred cattle auctioned off by William F. Fretz, Bucks County clothing manufacturer and bank official, at his farm, Fretz, Lyn. She was knocked down for $3,500.

Runner-up to Jeanette, price-wise, was a champion bull named Flash. He went on the block for $1,700.

An average price of $510 was paid for the other 158 cows and bulls.

MORRELL IN GOOD FORM AND PITCHES VOLTZ TO VICTORY

"Jimmy" Morrell was in fine form last evening as he pitched the Voltz-Texaco aggregation to a 3-0 victory over Lacey Park last evening in a Tri-County League tilt on Memorial field.

Morrell allowed the visitors but two hits, a single by McLaughlin in the first and a hit by Cook in the second. In the last five innings, only 15 batters faced the Lock Haven College twirler.

Voltz had six hits. Four of these came in the third frame when it garnered its trio of markers. The runs were scored on a walk to Ken Heath, singles by Bert Barbetta, Fred Barbetta, and Sal Pappaterra, and a two-bagger from the bat of "Charlie" Kohler.

The only hits by the Bristol team were a double by Lou Mari and single by Lou Powulus.

CROYDON BATTLES MAPLE SHADE TO TIE

Croydon and Maple Shade battled to a 1-1 deadlock last evening in a Bristol Youth League contest on the township school field.

Dick Orner and Ben Gartner were the opposing hurlers. Croydon gathered eight hits off Gartner while Maple Shade mustered four from the slants of Orner.

The Croydon run was the result of a triple by "Bill" Moll and single by Struble. Gartner scored the Maple Shade run with the aid of an error, balk, and single by Scheil.

Croydon passed up an opportunity of scoring the winning run in the final frame when the first two batters hit safely. There was an infield out and a long fly but the runner on third, McGuckin, failed to score after the catch. He was later put out on a run-down.

TERCHON TEAM TAKES POSSESSION OF LEAD

Chester W. Terchon Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, took sole possession of first place in the Bristol Clubmen's Softball League last night when they defeated the Clinton Lewis Lodge in a re-scheduled, rain-out game on Sullivan's field. The score was 9 to 5.

Kornstedt of the Vets pitched steady ball and with fine support kept the Vets out in front all the way, and also had three for four hits to contribute toward the victory. Don Rieck of the Vets lined a home run over the left fielder's head with one on in the fifth inning. Bragg of the Elks duplicated the feat in the next inning but with excellent fielding by Joe Steinbrun of the Vets held Bragg to a triple. Ray Dorsey caught an excellent game for the losers in spite of the mud at home plate Ray picked up balls a la Campanella of the Dodgers.

The Vets' infield of Crohe, Mulchinnock, Mount and Dugan was too fast for the Elks, executing three brilliant double plays that took the heart right out of the Lewis Lodge. Scotty Davis and Carm Orrino fielded in spectacular fashion while Whittaker's flashy base-running put the Vets in fine scoring position. Happy Schweizer, the star twirler of the Vets, is being primed for the game on Wednesday when the Vets play St. Ann's A. A.

the doctors' committee will be the corporation committee, the memorial subscription committee and the united labor hospital committee, it was announced by James E. Harris, fund chairman.

"These three committees, now beginning their activities, will concentrate their efforts during the months of June, July and August," Mr. Harris stated.

Mr. Harris explained that the corporation committee will invite the larger business and industrial firms to share in the program as an investment in the health protection of their employees. The memorial committee will offer individuals and families the opportunity of helping to create specific units of the new hospital in honor of or in memory of their loved ones. The united labor committee will seek subscriptions from local union treasuries and cooperate in the development of the community-wide campaign.

"The individual employee solicitation and the community-wide effort which will follow will give every worker and resident in the lower Bucks County area an opportunity to participate in this vital community undertaking," Mr. Harris declared.

The campaign is scheduled to conclude about October 15th.

Lillian Gish Will Star In New Play, "Miss Mabel"

NEW HOPE, June 15 — An engrossing new play, "Miss Mabel," starring Lillian Gish will be next week's attraction at Bucks County Playhouse, starting Monday. "Miss Mabel" was a recent success in London, where it was hailed as funnier and wittier even than "Arsenic and Old Lace." It is scheduled to be shown on Broadway this fall.

"Miss Mabel" brings Lillian Gish, the wistful star of stage and screen, to the Bucks County Playhouse for her second visit, her first having been in "The Marquise" in 1947. With grace, charm and wit, she portrays the genteel spinster of the title, whose generosity and goodwill towards others involve her in daring and astounding situations. As the play opens, her twin sister, a wealthy but mean old widow, has just died. The legality of the will is questioned, when it is discovered that nothing has been left to Miss Mabel, and everything divided among several of the latter's friends. An investigation ensues, stirring up a hornet's nest for the fascinating heroine played by this popular star.

The amusing and thrilling manner in which Miss Mabel keeps the characters in the play as well as the audience guessing as to the outcome, provides entertainment that is sometimes hilarious, sometimes tense.

Proud!

High on the list of difficulties that keep this world and our life from being a peaceful and enjoyable one is the sin of pride. Pride is the enemy of the soul and keeps countless thousands from the Kingdom of Christ. The proud man refuses to confess his own unworthiness in the sight of God and refuses to plead for pardon in the name of Christ.

And yet, there is no other way of entrance into the Kingdom. Only the man who has seen himself for what he really is—a helpless sinner—who has placed his case completely into the hands of Christ will enter into His Kingdom.

The Bible says: "God resisteth the proud and giveth grace to the humble." Let proud men turn to God in the spirit of Psalm 51 (read it) and plead for mercy in the name of Christ. They have God's promise of pardon.

Sportsmen's Briefs

By JOE ELBERSON

Arrived . . . 240 day-old pheasant chicks were delivered to the rearing pens of the Bristol and Edgely clubs, at the home of George Hintliff, Sr., Edgely Avenue, Edgely, on Tuesday of this week. The tiny fluffy chicks that look like oversized bumble bees were all in excellent condition after their trip from the game commission's breeding station at Schwenksville. Ken Jenks, secretary of the Bristol club, and Roy Stackhouse, president of the Edgely club, made the trip for the birds.

If you've never seen baby pheasants you should stop and see these little fellows. George Hintliff, who has established an enviable success record in raising them, will no doubt be pleased to show you his pens and equipment.

The pheasants will be raised to 12 weeks and then released by members of the two clubs on open hunting territory in the Bristol area. If, for no other reason, every sportsman, and particularly every hunter, should join one or both of these local clubs, on the merits of his off project alone.

As a matter of fact, you can show your interest and appreciation of the efforts being put forth in this project by being on hand at the pens at 6:30 p. m., Wednesday, June 20th, when assistance will be needed to string several rolls of wire over the outside holding pens. If 20 or 30 of us can spare an hour that evening the task will be a minor one.

Fishing . . . locally, some very fine panfish catches have been made at Silver Lake, and wall-eye pike catches in the Delaware at Bristol continue to be reported. On the Jersey coast and bays kings and some big weakies have been boated. The schools of blues which have been offshore in that area have moved on to new grounds. Fluke have made a substantial appearance in the Barnegat Light area.

Express views . . . nearly all classes of Pennsylvanians interested in the state's hunting seasons and its wildlife management presented their views to the Game Commission at a meeting in Harrisburg a few days ago.

The Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs, independent hunters, the Pennsylvania Trappers Association, the Legislature, the Allegheny Forests, and others voiced their opinions on regulations governing hunting and trapping. In addition, they submitted in writing, season and bag limit recommendations for the license year which begins September 1st.

These views and suggestions were requested by the Commission. Those made at the June conference, along with the annual survey of game protectors, farmers and others qualified to advise on the matter, will receive the careful consideration of the game authorities at their July meeting, when the 1951 game and fur seasons and bag limits will be decided.

Tournament . . . an open casting tournament will be held this Sunday at Willow Grove Park when the Middle Atlantic Championships will be decided. The Bristol Club is expected to be well represented in the various events. Registrations may be made from 10 in the morning until 4 in the afternoon.

High school leader . . . studies pertaining to natural resources are integrated throughout the general course of instruction taught in Pennsylvania schools. However, the progressive school authorities of Warren, Pa., are the first to place conservation as a subject on the accredited curriculum for this fall. Attesting to the popularity of the course, thirty students have already registered for this optional subject.

The Warren Field and Stream Club was instrumental in promoting added education in the schools. The sportsmen generously complied their original promotion with a success requisite; they pledged payment of a Warren High School instructor's expenses at this summer's Conservation Education Laboratory for teachers at State College.

There the teacher will acquire considerable basic information on the natural elements, soil, water, timber, wildlife and minerals. This will broaden his knowledge so that he will more ably impart to his students the fundamental facts concerning all the natural resources that made this nation great, the use or misuse of which will determine whether we shall remain a free and prosperous people.

Rifle & pistol shooters . . . instruction and practice for members of the Bristol Fish & Game Protective Association, and all other persons interested in either rifle or pistol shooting, will be held next Monday evening at the Club's trapshooting grounds at 7 o'clock.

3M TEAM USES YOUNG WOMAN TO WIN VICTORY

Something new was added to the Bristol Softball League last evening when a young lady strolled to the mound to help the Minnesota Mining team blank Jefferson, 11-0, on Memorial field.

The girl hurler, Dorothy Kellagher, pitched the last two innings of the game. She retired the first three batters on ground balls, walked the fourth, and then got out the next three in order.

George Wallace fast-balled the Jefferson team to death in the first five cantos and during this stretch allowed but two hits and dished out all goose-eggs in the run column.

Minnesota Mining, pace-setter of the circuit, amassed a total of 15 hits with Ray Pierandozzi getting two doubles and a single and George Wallace having a triple and single.
